MUSIC

I've had the honor of being the opening musical act for the following artists. Loretta Lynn, Ray Price, Marty Robbins, Mel Tillis, The Brooklyn Bridge and Kenny Vance and The Planotones. I have performed the music of Broadway, big band and movie musicals with "Chicago's Ambassador Of Music" Franz Benteler and The Royal Strings Orchestra. As Patsy Cline tribute artist performing in the musical review of "Patsy Meets Elvis" in Chicago. Also a salute to the woman of country music in "Country Music All-Stars" in the Philadelphia area and on the Jersey coast this summer.

In Nashville I've performed at the world famous Tootsie's Orchid Lounge, Nashville Palace, Wildhorse Saloon, Gilley's and Rainbow Room at Printer's Alley.

ABOUT ME

I'm a vocalist, published songwriter, literary writer, voice over artist and actor. Creativity flows on both sides of the family. My grandfather had a beautiful baritone voice, my grandparents all sang and played instruments. My parents and siblings all sing and are great at harmonizing. Every time there was some kind of gathering, it didn't matter how large or small, someone would start. The next thing you know everyone would be joining in singing and playing! I love that about my family. I've written the first in a series of books for children with audio book and theme song. I've worked in the field of music concert promotion with independent concert promoter Cal Starr for many years in Chicago. As a child I earned lead roles in The Wizard Of Oz, Alice In Wonderland, and as the crusty, cantankerous Ebenezer Scrooge in A Christmas Carol. In closing I'd like to say I feel blessed to have known and worked with the talents of Al Dvorin, Harold Bradley and Lew Douglas. They gave clarity and inspiration.....

I desire to create, be creative, inspire and be inspired..... I own nothing, anything I have is a gift.....

With a song in my heart
